

Book Example

By @jvcasill

Table of Contents

Introduction

1. Chapter 1

2. Chapter 2

3. Chapter 3

Book Example

This is a quick and dirty example of a gitbook. I'm toying with the idea of using this for my classes next semester. A possible issue is how it will look on a projector when being used to present in class. This example serves to see if this idea is plausible.

Chapter 1

Chapter 1

An unordered list...

- Hello
- Goodbye

An ordered list...

1. Number 1
2. Number 2
3. Number 3

A small table

Form	Singular	Plural
familiar	tu/uos	uos
formal	uos	uos

Chapter 2

Chapter 2

- So far it looks like everything works fine
- We need to try embedding images and links
- This is a good tree.
- Here is the inline image

Chapter 3

Chapter 3

- Now we will take a look at simple markup and code
- This is bold
- This is italics
- This is bold italics
- This is inline `code`
- Here is a block...

```
hello im a block
```

- This is a block quote

```
hello, Im a block quote
I can span several lines
```